“ I am so sad to hear about the passing of Lisa. Her memory will live on in our hearts forever. I still remember those kind words she encouraged me during my final stage of doctoral dissertation. Especially, Lisa was open minded and very nice to international students. I also remember that in order to relieve my stress from dissertation, Lisa suggested me to watch "Summer Fever" (a Taiwanese drama). I watched it after my graduation and learned a lesson: Love is forever and we will have a reunion in love eventually. With my deepest sympathy. The memory of Lisa will go on forever in our hearts forever.

“ Rest in God's loving arms my friend. I will surely miss you. May your dash speak for itself. You surely lived this life to the fullest. Thank you for your friendship and love. Until we meet again!

THE DASH (poem by Linda Ellis)

I read of a man who stood to speak at the funeral of a friend. He referred to the dates on the tombstone from the beginning... to the end.

He noted that first came the date of birth and spoke of the following date with tears, but he said what mattered most of all was the dash between those years.

For that dash represents all the time they spent alive on earth and now only those who loved them know what that little line is worth.

For it matters not, how much we own, the cars... the house... the cash. What matters is how we live and love and how we spend our dash.

So think about this long and hard; are there things you'd like to change? For you never know how much time is left that still can be rearranged.

To be less quick to anger and show appreciation more and love the people in our lives like we've never loved before.

If we treat each other with respect and more often wear a smile... remembering that this special dash might only last a little while.

So when your eulogy is being read, with your life's actions to rehash, would you be proud of the things they say about how you lived your dash?

“ I worked with Lisa in the PhD Office. I always enjoyed exchanging hair secrets and tips with her; we frequently encouraged each other to try out new styles or attend nearby hair expos. I cherished the time I had with her while at Temple and will be praying for everyone's strength during this time.

“ During my time at Fox, Lisa is one of the kindest most genuine people I have known. As a PhD student, she constantly went the extra mile to make my life easier. She would alert me to additional funding options that I was not aware of nor even asked about! The dissertation proposal and defense can be extremely stressful as there are so many things that need to be completed, but Lisa guided me through every step. She was an irreplaceable asset to the Temple community. Lisa's family and friends are in my thoughts and prayers.

“ Good morning,

I interacted with Lisa a lot during my time at Temple University as an administrator in STHM. She was hospitable and always embraced me with a smile. She valued my opinion regarding diversity, inclusion, and equity stratagems, along with the doctoral experience for African-American males, like me. She was a joy to be around.

Often, roaming around in Speakman/Alter Halls, unintentionally, we would bump into each other. We'd have a brief but delightful and productive conversation. I hope she knows now how much those interactions meant to me. How much those interactions changed my day for the better. Thank you, Lisa. Thank you, God, for creating such a dynamic and wholesome human being. May her homegoing today be celebratory.

“ To the family of Lisa Fitch, I extend my deepest sympathy for the passing of Lisa. I got to know her as she served on and helped to Create the Diversity Council for Fox. Lisa served as the co-chair of the 10th anniversary conference of Temple University Women of Color. It was a pleasure knowing her. Her warm smile and dedication to making the university more diverse.

“ I appreciated Lisa's advice in raising her three adult sons because I started my journey in raising my young adult son and daughter. I supported Lisa and the DEI committee when they planned the DEI event at Sullivan Hall during Black History Month in February 2019. I also worked with her in organizing the 10th anniversary conference for Temple University's Women of Color (TU-WoC) group in October 2019. I will miss her and her smile.

To the family: May God give you comfort and strength during this difficult time.

“ RIP Lisa! You will be deeply missed at the Fox School - you were the heart and soul of the PhD program and it's hard to imagine the PhD program without you. Your commitment and dedication to the students was exemplary - you would always go above and beyond your job to make things easier for the students. The PhD students at Fox simply loved you, and knew that one email or phone call or visit to your office will solve their problems. One needed to talk to you just once to realize your passion for your job and care for the PhD students. You was also deeply involved with issues related to Diversity and Inclusion, and volunteered your time and effort to further this cause.

There was no time spent with Lisa that she did not make me laugh, making her sudden loss all the more shocking. May her family be comforted in some small measure by knowing how truly loved Lisa was outside the family sphere. Peace, K.*

“ *Lisa,
Thank you for your hard work managing our PhD program from applications to overseeing our students' development over the years. Without your dedication, our PhD program would not have been run smoothly. Definitely, I can speak for our IB program. I have seen your love of our students and wish for their success in the program. Again, thank you for your dedication.*

“ My coworker and friend since 2008, Lisa Fitch was someone that I enjoyed talking to everyday. We often shared our journey about raising our children, enjoying our grandchildren, our Spiritual affiliations, our thirst for education and so much more.

Lisa was a delightful soul with an endearing spirit always sharing an encouraging word. The Front desk was the Hub where a lot of the women would gather for daily conversations, Lisa was one of my favorite people in that group, she was a joy to be around, she will truly be missed by the Fox School Dean's Office.

Rest in Peace my dear Friend, and God Bless the beloved family you leave behind.
